Federal law states that census information is confidential. At this legal training, AALDEF attorneys will provide:

- a legal analysis about the strength of the confidentiality protections, including a review of compliance efforts, enforcement mechanisms, and results of Freedom of Information Requests to the government
- legal procedures dealing with census employees who violate confidentiality
- an explanation of the confidentiality protections in light of the Illegal Immigration Reform Act of 1996 and USA Patriot Act of 2001
- the rights and responsibilities of community-based organizations in advising their clients to participate in the census
- the individual benefits for undocumented immigrants to participate in the census

This training is for immigrant service providers, attorneys, and community leaders. TEXAS ATTORNEYS: This program has qualified for 1.0 hour of MCLE credit in Texas, which includes a 0.5 hour of ethics credit.

AALDEF is also monitoring census operations. Beginning in late February, individuals will be able to report problems and potential violations of law through a multilingual telephone hotline and online form to an attorney.

Call for Applications & Nominations for American Bar Association Committee Positions

The ABA is encouraging all attorneys of color to apply for committee positions. The goal is to increase the diversity of the ABA leadership. Of the chairs of over 80 committees, 9 are African Americans, 4 are Latinos and 1 is Asian Pacific Islander. The ABA needs more women, racial/ethnic minorities, LGBT, disabled lawyers and other underrepresented lawyers to be a part of its leadership. Applications are now being accepted for the ABA for over 600+ available positions for American Bar Association appointments. Please apply today.

Note: YOU MUST BE A MEMBER OF THE ABA TO APPLY.
THE DEADLINE FOR APPLYING IS MARCH 1, 2010.

Here are some helpful tips:

1. The application is online. You can access it at <http://www.abanet.org/scripts/nomination10/appointments.jsp>
2. Scroll down to the bottom of the website page to view available committee positions.
3. Fill out the application online. It is important that YOU fill out an application to show interest in the appointment.
4. It is very helpful to have others nominate and support your application. Here are some ideas:
 - a. Your national ethnic bar association can send in a list of those they support. Be sure to be part of that list.
 - b. Any friends that you have in leadership at the ABA or your local/state bar association.
 - c. The committee/council/commission that you want to join can also advocate for you.

The more people/organizations that you have supporting your nomination, the better your chances. Committee appointments are very competitive for some committees.
